

Empowering Communities. Changing Lives.

INTRODUCTION

The Greater Washington Urban League (GWUL or the League) is on a mission to increase the economic and political empowerment of historically vulnerable and diverse populations. For 85 years, the League has stood on society's frontlines as well as in the trenches serving as a safety net and facilitator of opportunity in Washington, DC and Montgomery County and Prince George's County, Maryland. As one of the District's oldest civil rights organizations, the League continues to carve a distinctive path towards justice and fair play by putting families first and catering to the needs of children and the elderly, and everyone in between. Since 1938, GWUL has guided individuals on the road to self-sufficiency, impacting over three million lives.

As an important and long-standing manifestation of its mission, the Greater Washington Urban League and its young professionals' auxiliary, Thursday Network (TN) are committed to awarding educational opportunities through scholarships for college-bound and currently enrolled college students. In conjunction with numerous corporate sponsors, GWUL has facilitated the distribution of more than $2 million in scholarships to more than 336 young adults to financially support their freshman through senior years at any accredited four-year college or university in the United States. Scholarship recipients have matriculated to a diverse and elite range of higher education institutions, including Historically Black Colleges and Universities, local colleges, Ivy League, and other colleges/universities, as well as the Job Corps and other special post-secondary education and trade establishments.

For the 2025-2026 school year, the Greater Washington Urban League will award several scholarships to deserving high school seniors and current undergraduate students, ranging from $1,000 to $8,000. All scholarship disbursements are for tuition and will be delivered directly to the bursar's or student accounts office of the student's school for the Fall 2025 term.

The Greater Washington Urban League and Thursday Network define plagiarism as "a direct violation of intellectual and academic honesty." Although it exists in many forms, all plagiarism refers to the same act: representing somebody else's words or ideas as one's own. This can take the form of taking material from other sources, including the Internet, and deliberately failing to give credit in your essay to the original source. Therefore, it is very important that you properly document sources in your essay responses with verifiable citations. You may include citations in the footnotes of the Word document or on a separate "References" page. Citations do not count towards the 500-word limit. Additionally, the use of Al tools or assistance is strictly prohibited.
